THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL.

Dallas, Aug. 14.—During the past week business has been brisk, and although the rains during the early portion of the week prevented farmers from marketing week prevented farmers from marketing their produce, receipts have been very fair. The receipts of cotton have been very light both by wagon and rail, only two or three bales of new cotton having reached the city. There has been no change in prices in New York or any of the other port. In this city there is not enough seiling to fix any rate, and prices are nominal. Arrivals of grain have not been as heavy as during the preceding week, owing in a measure to the condition of the roads. The oats crop in this section of the state in a measure to the condition of the roads. The oats crop in this section of the state has turned out largely, and the arrivals are good. Prices are steady at former quotations, but the market is firmer at New Orleans, with an upward tendency. Wheat comes in slowly, and all that arrives is freely taken by millers and dealers. The receipts of corn have failen off materially, and the opinion is that no large quantities are held in the country. Rye and barley are coming in in small quantities, and are firm at quotacountry. Rye and barley are coming in in small quantities, and are firm at quotations. The market is well supplied with floor, and prices are a snade lower. Bran is unchanged and scarce on the market. There is nothing new to note in hay, prices remaining steady. During the week ten car-loads of cattle arrived from the west, and six cars were shipped to eattern Texas. Prices are a little lower. No veal calves are offered at the exchanges and they are in active demand. The arrivals of multon sheep have been large and they are dull on the mar-

mand. The arrivals of mutton sheep have been large, and they are dull on the market. While prices are unchanged they are not firm, and concessions will have to be made to effect large sales. There is little demand for far hogs. Stock hogs and feeders are eagerly sought after, and the supply is far below the demand and they command higher hogs. Stock hogs and feeders are eagerly sought after, and the supply is far below the demand, and they command higher prices than they have for years. Horses, mules and ponies are scarce and high. There has been very little wool offering and the demand is very light, owing to the depressed state of the ma ket east. Quotations, however, now are unchanged. There is less inquiry for hides than has been witnessed here for several years, and they are dull on the market. Broom-corn continues to come in freely, and choice green always finds ready sale. The market continues to be fairly supplied with green vegetables, and prices have ruled high during the entire season. Good potatoes are very firm on the market. Sweet potatoes are beginning to come in liberally, and prices will undoubtedly be lower. Fruits are plentiful, but of inferior quality, with the exception of peaches, which are very fine. All kinds of the later fruits are advancing. Lemons are the only tropical truits offered at the stalls;

Lemons are the only tropical fruits offered at the stalls; they are very firm at quotations. Melons of all kinds are coming in freely, but continue to command the good prices of the season. Receipts of chickens are only equal to the consumptive demands of the city, and prices are steady. Eggs are not plentiful and prices are very firm. Good country butter commands a ready sale at quotations. Wood is coming in more freely, and Wood is coming in more treely, and dealers are anxious to enter into contracts for winter supplies. The general business of the city, in both wholesale and retail lines, has fully met expectations, and indications are that the present week will show a volume of trade surpassing that of the same period last year.

GRAIN AND BREADSTUFFS.

The London Times, reviewing the harvest prospects in England, estimates that wheat and badley will be below the average crop. Mr. H. F. Moore reports that the yield of wheat will be 8 1-2 per cent. below the standard average per scre, and that of barley 6 per cent. below the average. The yield of osts, he says, will be 6 per cent. above the average, and that of potatoes 20 per cent. above.

Thirty years ago, in the heyday of the slavery regime, the total value of southern crops of cotton, tobacco, rice, bay, hemp, and sugar-cane was $135,600,738. The New York Commercial Bulletin, of The New York Commercial Bulletin, of Wednesday reviews the hardware trade at that point for the past week as follows: The amount of stock going out on orders at present is rather on the increase if anything. Buyers move slowly and carefully, and many quite evidently have followed the old plan of confining their lists to the most imperative necessity, but the footings from week to week make a good business, and dealers do not complain seriously. Indeed, there is in some quarters a revival of hope over the fall trade, and many unquestionably look for quite a degree of animation before cold weather sets in. WOOL, HIDES AND PELTRIES.

A special from Boston says the hide market may almost be called stagnant as a result of the Shaw failure. The small stock here is held at very firm prices, and there are no parties willing to sell Montevided hides under 24-1-2 or 25 cents per pound. Shipments on the way from South America are not half as large as at this time last year, and importers consider the outlook favorable for at least full present prices. The sale is reported of 30 bales tanned sheepsking at 35 cents and 35 cents, including Nos. 1, 2 and 3 grades.

The Boston Advertiser has ascertained by replies is inquiries addirected to the wooled of cards are stopped—equal to the consumption of 300 pounds of wool daily, or in the aggregate 1,300,000 pounds weekly. This represents over one-third of the sets in New England, and the returns are not regarded as complete, since answers to all the inquiries sent out had not been received. This indicates a very depressed condition of the woolen goods trade of the country.

ceived at the government links in action for the past year was $24 184,279.

Henry Clews & Co. review the day's market as follows:

There is no disguising the fact that this is a very great country. But there is such a thing as growing too fast, as will be exemphified by the following showing: The Northern Pacific system of roads embraces a territory populated by 1,500,000 of people between its starting point and termination, making 8,000 miles of railroad vs. New York state, which contains a population of 5,000,000 people and 6,000 miles of road. A diagnosis of the region of the former will be found, we fear, difficult to sustain protitably under the circumstances of their present extended railroad system.

The Glasgow, Scotland, Herald remarks: "The rate at which the United States is redeeming its debt is marvelous, and reflects great credit upon the people. It may be said, and no doubt with truth, that the redemption of debt is purchased too dearly by maintaining an exorbitant taxation. But, however that may be, the existing generations of Americans may well be proud of the fact that they have taxed themselves so heavily to pay off the debt incurred in maintaining the integrity of the union. In three successive years they have redeemed £78,000,000 of debt, and since the close of the war the total redemption has exceeded £180,000,000."

The Well Street News says: "It is simply impossible that the continual failure of great commercial establishments in New England can leave the banks there unscathed, and, in fact, we have the best of information that several of them have been seriously burt. The money which the banks have lost is now in the form of noapproductive real estate, and the plants of mills which are worth a great deal while banks have lost is now in the form of noapproductive real estate, and the plants of mills which are worth a great deal while banks have lost is now in the form of noa-productive real estate, and the plants of mills which are worth a great deal while business is good, but are unmarketable when it is bad. Many of the banks which have sunk their ready funds in paper are loaded with such stuff as New York and New England securities, and these are quite as bad to realize upon as the real es-tate and manufacturing plants which the commercial borrowers have saddled them commercial borrowers have saddled them commercial borrowers have sandied them with. The exigencies of these eastern institutions will soon compel them to sacrifice not only poor stocks but the good ones that they hold. There will be money to carry neither the manufacturing nor the railroad interests. This time is rapidly approaching, and when the real unloading begins there will be lively times in Walistrate!"

COTTON.

The spot markets continue depressed. New York closed 1-16 off, while other centres were either duil or steady. The stagnation of the market is thought to be due to sympathy with the stock market, which, just now, it will be recalled, is under a cloud. The receipts at this point were light, and the shipments 32 bales by Evans & Co., over the Texas & Pacific Prices in this city are unchanged from the contactions given below: quotations given below:

Another Life Saved.

J. C. Gray, of Dadeville, Alabama, writes us: I have been using your Dr. William Hali's Balsam for the Lungs, and I can say, of a truth, it is far superior to any other Lurg preparation in the world. My mother was confined to her bed four weeks with a cough, and had every attention by as good physicians as there are in the country, and they all failed to effect a cure: but when I got one bottle of your Dr. William try, and they all failed to effect a cure; but when I got one bottle of your Dr. William Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, she began to mend right away. I can say, in truth, that it was the means of saving her life. I knew of five cases that Dr. William Hall's Balsam has cured, and my mother is better now than she has been before for twenty years.

After a few applications, it will be noticed that the natural indentations in them, formerly filled with corroding tartar, present a spotless appearance and their enamelled surfaces glisten with becoming lustre. Thus beauty is heightened and health promoted.
